

LETTERS FROM FRANCE

MAURICE BONDAUX WRITES TO HIS WIFE OF HORRORS OF WAR

Mrs. Maurice Bondaux, who makes her home with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. MacIntyre, 421 Central street, receives letters from her husband, who is at the front in France, each week. These letters are of especial interest since Mr. Bondaux is in active Red Cross work in a hospital about nine miles north of Challons. He left for France early in the war from San Diego, where he had been living since his marriage, with the exception of a few months spent at his old home in France on his wedding trip. He and Mrs. Bondaux met in Canada while he was on a visit to this side of the Atlantic for the first time, and he had become so fond of this country that he had expected to make his home here until he was called to the defense of his native land.

He was in the trenches in France until a very severe attack of pneumonia made it impossible for him to return. He then took up the Red Cross work, and he tells very graphically of conditions in his hospital. His work, like that of all who are giving personal services to such causes at the front, consists of a variety of duties, all under a driving strain of overwork. He buys all supplies for the hospital, besides driving surgical ambulance No. 9, and often works far into the night in helping the surgeons with the X-ray machine, by which bullets and internal injuries are located. His descriptions of the desperate need of more of these machines and further surgical equipment and aid is most moving. The fact that numbers of the wretched sufferers are obliged to lie for hours and even days awaiting their turn on the operating tables, that, besides the agony of their wounds, they must endure this waiting without either food or drink in order to be ready for the surgical ordeal when it comes, and that the workers are driven beyond their strength in endeavoring by desperate efforts to reach each victim as rapidly as possible, gives an idea of the needs of the situation. Mr. Bondaux has promised to send a special letter for publication concerning this Red Cross hospital work.

His father, M. Edmund Bondaux, a very wealthy and influential French gentleman, is the head of the Red Cross at Verdun. Oddly enough, his letters to Mrs. Bondaux frequently come through without being opened, while those of her husband are invariably read. The little town of Abou Court, which won considerable publicity at the time it was captured by the Germans early in the war, was composed entirely of the sawmills, factories, etc., owned by M. Edmund Bondaux, with the homes of the workmen.

The personal story of Mr. Bondaux's own family since the beginning of the war is a sad and tragic one, and throws light on the terrible experiences being undergone by the people of France. His sister, Jeanne, Madame Paul Fery, whose husband, Gen. Paul Fery, nephew of a former President of France, was killed early in the war, has been, since the beginning of the war, "somewhere behind the German lines."

With her four children, Madame Fery had fled from her home at Lonwy, hoping to find safety in a beautiful home which they had purchased in Belgium, only about twenty miles distant from Lonwy, with confidence in the neutrality of Belgium. But

COMPLIMENTARY LUNCHEON

The Misses Read, of North Central avenue, were hostesses Saturday noon at luncheon complimentary to Miss Martha Newman Porter, whose marriage to Mr. Seymour Thompson, of Beverly Hills, will take place in the near future. The color motif was pink and white. A large French slipper, fashioned of pink roses and fern, topped with a rosette of pink tulle, graced the center of the table. Poised high in the heel, a dainty kewpie bride, in white satin, en train, tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms and shower bouquet, gazed demurely upon a bed of gypsophila. At each corner was a quaint lace frilled bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses and gypsophila, in the center of which was concealed the bonbon cup. To each bouquet was fastened the little pink and white heart shaped place card. Hanging from the vine twined chandelier were clusters of hearts. Covers were laid for eight. The guests were Miss Martha Newman Porter, Mesdames W. E. Hewitt, J. K. Williams, Misses Elizabeth Porter and Charlotte Cooke of Los Angeles.

RETURNS FROM EAST

MR. WIGGINTON IN GLENDALE AFTER VISIT WITH RELATIVES IN EASTERN STATES

Mr. George Wigginton, father of Mrs. Otis and Mrs. Spink, of the Dolly Varden, arrived in Glendale on Saturday for a visit of about a week. Mr. Wigginton has been living in Portland, but has bought a fruit and almond ranch at his old home in Lodi, Cal., where he will go from here. He is on his way back from a long trip through the East, having started from Stockton on July 24 and been traveling ever since. He visited first in Columbus, O., with his sister, Mrs. Annie Bradley. From there he went to Wheeling, W. Va., and thence to his birthplace, Steubenville, O., which he reports as having "grown out of all knowledge," having been a place of not more than 8000 when he left, and now being a small city of some 30,000, with the farms of his boyhood transformed into city streets. Mr. Wigginton visited in a number of other places, including Pittsburgh, Chicago and Kalamazoo, where he stopped with his nephew, who is the manager and secretary of the Loose Leaf Notebook Bookbinding Co. He expects soon to be in Glendale for a visit. Mr. Wigginton was in Glendale for several months last year, and reports that he likes California better than the East, though business is exceptionally good there now. But California fruit isn't—not as we have it at home.

MRS. WHITE ENTERTAINED BOYS

On Saturday evening Mrs. J. Robert White entertained at her home on Orange street the following boys from Battery F, who expect soon to be transferred, being the guests of honor: Louis Lippelman, Frank Liddell, Fred Lutge, Fred Farner, Jas. Gibson and Miller Holman. The fathers, mothers and a number of the friends of the soldier boys were the invited guests. About thirty were present. The decorations were patriotic and military, red and white carnations and blue plumbago carrying out the scheme in the floral decorations. Miniature cannon were used at the table and various places throughout the house. There was dancing, and both Mr. Frank Liddell, Sr., and Frank Liddell, Jr., sang. The refreshments were delicious and also carried out the national colors.

TWO BIRTHDAY DINNERS

Mrs. Queen Danner, 331 Gardena avenue, Tropic, enjoyed the unusual experience on Sunday, October 7, of two birthday dinners, and chicken dinners at that. At noon Mrs. Danner's sister, Mrs. J. E. Martin, and family, of San Fernando road, had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Danner at the Danner home. In the evening Mrs. C. J. Bruck entertained with a most enjoyable dinner in honor of Mrs. Danner. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Danner and family and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crane and baby. Aileen. The table was beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations, with a very festive cake in pink and white, which was as delicious as it looked.

DEATH OF MRS. TRAVER

Mrs. Ella C. Traver, who, with her husband, C. L. Traver, came to Glendale about two months ago, died at her home, 215 Orange street, Tuesday morning, October 9, at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Traver was born in Wisconsin, October 10, 1850, and lacked one day of being 67 years of age at the time of her death. Mr. and Mrs. Traver were residents of Pomona for eight years before coming to Glendale.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 o'clock at the Pulliam undertaking parlors. Interment at Forest Lawn.

TIN ANNIVERSARY

MRS. DANIEL CAMPBELL HOSTESS TO PAST MATRONS AND PATRONS OF GLEN EYRIE

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell entertained on Monday evening at their home, Ard-Evin, the past matrons and past patrons of the Glen Eyrie chapter of O. E. S. The guest of honor was the present matron, Mrs. A. M. Beamon, who, with Mr. Beamon, a past patron, is leaving next week to attend the grand chapter of O. E. S. at Oakland. The special occasion to be honored was the tenth anniversary since the chapter has received its charter, which Mrs. Campbell celebrated as the "tin anniversary," using tin souvenirs as favors. The guest of honor and Mr. Emery, Mrs. Campbell's patron in 1910, received silver favors. A beautiful big birthday cake was decorated with eleven candles, including the "one to grow on." The evening was spent most enjoyably with games and music, and closed by all joining hands together and singing "Auld Lang Syne." The invited guests, with their time of holding office, follow: Miss Hefkman, Mr. Moyse, 1907; Mrs. Imbler, Dr. Bryant, 1909; Mrs. Campbell, Mr. Emery, 1910; Mrs. Albright, Mr. Tower, 1911; Mrs. Ryan, Mr. Campbell, 1912; Mrs. Bullis, Mr. Fraley, 1913; Mrs. Tower, Mr. Beamon, 1914; Miss Borthick, Mr. Beamon, 1915; Mrs. Roberts, Mr. Roberts, 1916; Mrs. Beamon, Mr. Grumbling, 1917. Mrs. Campbell, besides having been past matron of the chapter, is past district deputy grand matron of California for 1913.

COMFORTING THE SOLDIER BOYS

The W. C. T. U. held an outdoor meeting last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Quackenbush, 119 East Colorado street. A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed beneath the spreading pepper trees. The war service work was the all-important discussion at hand. It was reported that 50 navy comfort kits were made, besides a large number of "many-tailed" bandages. But at present there is a call for 25 more bags or kits, and there is need of more help among the women and the men. You may ask, Are these bags appreciated? One needs only to read a few of the scores of letters received daily at the W. C. T. U. headquarters from grateful men in camps of Southern California to realize this. These are in many cases touching, as are the requests for bags for other brothers in arms, or from men who have seen bags presented to comrades and long to possess them themselves. Four needs are supplied in the contents of these bags. All minor injuries are provided for; necessary toilet articles are provided; articles for clothing repair are furnished, and moral and spiritual aid given through the New Testament, purity and temperance literature. A sisterly letter and a small book of "home songs" are also included. Now, these bags are furnished free of cost to the soldier boys and sailors. Every man under arms in Southern California will be provided with one of these home kits before the work is completed is the high aim before bags for other American forces or the French army is undertaken to be supplied. It is purely a labor of patriotism on the part of these women, using what donations they receive for purchasing articles needed in the bags.

Thousands of bandages of special makes recommended by surgeons for specific wounds are being made by the unions at the local workrooms and at the homes, and a personal letter from Queen Mary of England is only one of the testimonials received for the work.

RETIRED BUSINESS MAN SPEAKS

Salo Desky, of 139 South Kenwood street, Glendale, is a retired merchant, having been engaged in the mercantile business for many years at Fergus Falls, Minn. Mr. Desky met the editor of the Evening News on the street this forenoon and said: "This is the Booster Week for the daily paper. Tell the merchants of Glendale that Salo Desky owes his success to advertising, and that he is a thorough believer in newspaper advertising. Of course, a man must keep up his stock; he must mark prices on his goods in plain figures, and he must have a good window display. I observed all these points when I was in business and I succeeded."

BOOSTER WEEK

SECOND DAY OF ANNUAL CELEBRATION INDICATES WEEK WILL BE A SUCCESS

Booster Week for the Evening News, the only daily newspaper published in the San Fernando valley, is proving a marked success. When it comes to speaking a kind word for the Evening News there are no slackers. However, it must be distinctly understood that these kind words are for the Evening News, and not for the editor. Evening News editors may come and go, but the Evening News will go on forever. The local daily paper is the property of the people of the community in which it is published. The money that is turned in on subscription, advertising and job printing is paid out by the management with a view of making a better paper. In the past four years the management has considered it a wise plan to even spend more money for the upkeep of the local daily than was received from the sources of income mentioned above. One thing certain, the Evening News will not do its best for the community unless every cent of available income goes into the business. Therefore, all patronage given the Evening News assists in building up a stronger daily newspaper for the community.

Although the Evening News has a large circulation now, there remains an opportunity to get newcomers interested in the paper. Citizens of Glendale who are interested in the paper soon become interested in municipal, social and educational affairs. So if you wish to promote the interests of the local community first advise newcomers to subscribe for the daily paper.

Many new names were added to the list yesterday, and the first addition for today was received at 6:30 o'clock this morning, and other new names have been handed in and phoned to the office hourly since that time. The good work is bound to go on.

THE INTERMEDIATE P.-T. A.

The Intermediate P.-T. A. held its first regular meeting of the year in the library of the school Monday, October 8, at 3 p. m. Mrs. Yarrick, president, having been called north on account of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Puffer, vice president, presided. Miss Daniels, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting in June, and reports were given by the various committees present. After all business was transacted the program followed, which included a brilliant piano solo by Mrs. Murman, a beautiful vocal solo by Mrs. Capell, who kindly gave an encore; two wonderfully clever readings by Miss Powers, one being a selection of Whitcomb Riley's. Dr. Henry Harrower gave a delightful vocal solo, and generously gave an encore. Mr. White, principal of the Intermediate school, gave an interesting talk on P.-T. A. work and the benefit derived from it. Mrs. Brown, president of the federation, gave a short talk on the same line, impressing on every one the great need of the work of the P.-T. A. We had a most wonderful gathering at this meeting, having between 50 and 60 mothers and teachers present. It was announced that the reception to the teachers would be given in the high school on the evening of October 19. Refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

DEATH OF MRS. HEARTT

Mrs. Adeline A. Heartt passed away at her home, 702 Verdugo road, Monday, October 8, after a long illness. She had been an invalid practically all the time she had lived in Glendale, which was two years and eight months. Mrs. Heartt was born in Canada March 28, 1831, and died at the age of 86 years six months and ten days. The deceased was an aunt of C. L. Peckham and Mrs. Mary D. Sweetland, both of this city.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Pulliam undertaking parlors. The remains will be placed in the vault at Forest Lawn cemetery until the crematory is completed, when they will be cremated and the ashes shipped to her former home in Chicago and interred in the family burial plot beside her daughter.

THE EDUCATED ADVERTISER

The merchant who has been schooled in the value and science of advertising does not need to be pursued by advertising agents and solicitors that he may be mindful of his duty. He knows what he wants in the way of publicity and he carries out a well defined scheme of advertising.

LIBERTY BONDS AS AN INVESTMENT

While the patriotic appeal involved in the necessity of maintaining the position of our country in the war is a sufficient argument in favor of the purchase of liberty loan bonds, the technical position of the issue as an investment is naturally a matter of interest to the large subscriber. George K. Weeks, Vice-President of The National City Company, one of the largest dealers in investment issues, and General Campaign Manager for the Liberty Loan in the Twelfth District, has stated the position of the new Liberty Loan 4s from the technical investment security standpoint. He said:

"The Second Liberty Loan Campaign opens under very favorable auspices from the standpoint of the investment standing of the bonds offered for sale. The Liberty Loan 3½s sold last June were exempt from all taxation, except inheritance and estate taxes. This issue was nearly 50 per cent. oversubscribed. The free market for these bonds has been somewhat hampered after the June campaign by a necessary delay on the part of the Government in issuance of permanent engraved bonds, but the interim certificates issued by the different Federal Reserve Banks have been salable at all times, at a concession of not more than a nominal fraction under par. As the date has approached when the permanent engraved bonds were ready and as investors have learned, with the offerings of the Second Loan, they could either hold their fully tax exempt 3½s or convert them into a higher rate bond bearing 4 per cent., exempt from all taxes, except estate taxes, surtaxes and excess profit taxes, the demand for the old 3½s has been such that they have ruled on the New York stock exchange during the last ten days at a nominal premium, the high record price being 100.30 and accrued interest.

"The investor is offered in the Second Campaign a bond bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, which cannot be retired by the Government in less than ten years, which is convertible into any higher rate bond issued during the course of the war and which is exempt from normal federal taxes and all state and local taxes.

"It is not to be expected that during the active course of this Second Campaign, when subscriptions for every available dollar are asked for by the Government for the new bonds, the old 3½ per cent. bonds will continue to rule at even a nominal premium, but the fact that these 3½s did go to a slight premium and that there is likely to be a demand for such of these bonds as the original subscribers may not desire to convert into the new 4s, at a price close to par, is a point calculated to impress those who are approaching the subject of Government financing from a critical investment standpoint.

"The weight of economic opinion seems to clearly endorse the action of Congress in making the new loan subject to surtaxes and excess profit taxes. It is not sound public policy to permit all of the inherited wealth of the country to find its way even into the 3½ per cent. bonds of the Government and thereby escape any contribution for the carrying on of the war. The Second Liberty Loan 4 per cent. bonds now offered, however, appear to meet the situation, to an excellent degree, from the standpoint of the economist and the critical investor, as well as the patriotic citizen who intends to do his bit toward the successful carrying on of the war, irrespective of the character of the paper offered by the Government.

WOMEN WHO ARE WANTED

Wanted by men in every state, county, city and village in America, a wife.

Wanted, by millions of bachelors in the United States, a wife who can live on her husband's income and not complain; who can save a penny and not be ashamed.

Wanted, a wife whose aim in life is not dress, motor cars, card parties, dinners, society; who will not neglect her husband; who loves a home.

Wanted, a wife who knows how to cook, to sew, to direct a household; who can make a home.

Wanted, a wife who wants children.

Wanted, a wife who will not be a dressed-up doll or a household drudge; who will not limit her life to the four walls of the house; who knows the need of self-improvement, self-enlargement; who can continue to grow; who loves progress, refinement, culture.

Wanted, a wife who loves the stimulus of victory; who will not lose ambition with one defeat; who cannot be fatigued by climbing; who is willing to pay the price of success.

Wanted, a wife who can share adversity and not lose her love; who can share prosperity and not be jealous.

Wanted, a wife who does not nag, who can be a companion, an inspiration; whose love can lighten the shadows of failure; who can keep her faith even though all men fall to doubting.

Wanted, a wife who can love, love on through the years—in prosperity, in hardships, in adversity, in sorrow.

A woman who can meet these wants will find millions of men in America ready to go down on their knees and pray God for the privilege of giving her a home and making her happy.—Milwaukee Journal.

THE DRAFTED MAN

What shall the conscripted man do between now and his going to the cantonments to fit himself mentally for the war? He has no time now to study books and learn the theory of what he will soon be learning by practice. But it is the mental and moral attitude in which he approaches his new duty that will constitute his best preparation for it. Let him read and do whatever will strengthen his devotion to the ideals of his country; that will make him realize that in his individual hands has been placed the honor of his family and his people and that he must bring it back unstained except, perhaps, it be reddened by his blood in defense of it. Let him read what will make him resolve that, in fighting to the end a war for justice and humanity, he shall not come back with the knowledge that he has wantonly done anything to add to the brutality and savagery of it. More than all, let him read those

RUMORS OF RED CROSS ARTICLES SALE UNFOUNDED

Numerous reports have been circulated recently that garments manufactured for the Red Cross are being sold to individuals for exorbitant prices, and in some instances these articles have been found in lumber camps, quarries, etc., with a note attached to the sleeve or pinned in the sock, indicating that it had been made by some woman for our own soldiers or the soldiers of the allies. We have followed up every complaint made through the newspapers and many others made by individuals, and in every instance we have found that it has been merely hearsay. We may not be able to suppress these false reports, which seem to be made by those who are trying to discredit the Red Cross, but we can give the public the actual facts and at the same time guard more carefully than ever these articles which come to our hands for the purpose of mitigating the sufferings of our own fighting men and those who fight with us, and all who may suffer as a result of this human earthquake. May we ask you to give wide publicity to the telegram quoted as follows from the Washington headquarters of the Red Cross to the Pacific division of the Red Cross:

"Story is being industriously circulated to effect that sweaters, socks and other articles knitted for the Red Cross are being sold either to the public in shops or direct to the soldiers. Very important that you issue notice at once to each chapter denying this as vigorously as you know how. No articles whatever, either knitted or otherwise, made by Red Cross workers and turned in to any Red Cross chapter, branch or auxiliary or to any supply warehouse, are sold either to the soldiers or in shops. If any wilful case of this sort should come to the attention of headquarters the charter of the Red Cross chapter or subsidiary sanctioning it would be immediately withdrawn with full publicity. Should it transpire that an actual instance of the above character occurred wherein an individual sold articles after their having been turned in covering the Red Cross, we would take vigorous steps to prosecute the offender. It is also true that any case of persons other than those acquiring the right prior to January, 1905, using the name or emblem of the Red Cross to assist in the sale of merchandise is a violation of the provisions of the federal criminal law, and the offender should be reported to the U. S. district attorney for prosecution. There is no way to prevent people from making the same type of articles as are produced by Red Cross workers and selling them for their own advantage, thus subjecting the Red Cross to unjust criticism. Should they use the name or emblem of the Red Cross in connection with such sales, however, they will be vigorously prosecuted."

So strong is the faith of the American people in Uncle Sam, they eagerly will stake him for many billions in subscriptions for Liberty bonds or treasury certificates.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Westerly winds.

things that were read to him at his mother's knee, that will help him to keep a clean spirit in a clean body, so that if the time should come when he has to pay the last full measure of devotion it will be a sacrifice without stain or blemish that he will lay on his country's altar.—Monrovia News.

BUSINESS VERSUS POLITICS

After months of debate the food control bill became a law. During that time Mr. Hoover had been at work, had organized his department with volunteers, had analyzed the factors of the situation, and when the bill was signed he had thought out and laid before the people a well-defined plan of action.

While the Senate talked Hoover worked and acted. When it got through talking he was ready to act.

There is a world of difference between a business man and a politician. To the business man action is the only thing that counts, and words are of use only to expedite action.

To the politician words are everything, and he is proud when he scans the Congressional Record and reflects that they are full of words, largely his own.

His chief anxiety being to hold his job, he shrinks from action lest it should cause loss of votes, and covers his cowardice with a cloud of words, as the devilish covers his retreat with a flood of ink.

IT IS SINK OR SWIM

If some objector tells you that this war is not popular, agree with him. Who ever said it was popular? Anyone with common horse sense knows that the American people are not particularly elated over the necessity of sending the flower of its manhood into the trenches, or of mortgaging the future with big bond issues to keep the world's finances balanced. The American people are peace loving, it has been bred in the bone and many years have elapsed since any real fighting has been required of us, that we are all soft, and out of practice. Popular—far from it, we loathe it. But here is the rub: It is sink or swim, and even though the water is muddy, made so by the terrible slaughter of the past three years on European soil, swimming is better than quietly settling to the bottom. when the muck is even worse than the bloody water. America is swimming today and she will continue to swim until the safe shore of democracy and freedom is reached. With her will swim the other democratic nations and the free peoples of this world forever throw off the menace of autocracy in every form.—Whittier News.

LETTERS FROM FRANCE

when the time of emergency for which they had prepared finally arrived, only sorrow came from their foresight. She has never been heard from directly from that time. However, an aged aunt of her husband, an old lady ninety years of age, succeeded in getting through the German lines with a message telling how their home had been seized for the headquarters of the German crown prince and later destroyed, and that the two older children, boys, were working in a German factory. Later, through an exchanged prisoner, the last news of her came, the message having left her on last Christmas and being received by her relatives only about a month ago in France. It was a pitiful plea for food and clothing for herself and two little girls. They were in the bread lines.

Mr. Bondaux's youngest brother, Julian, has been killed in action, and his older brother, a French officer, has lost his home at Epernay, on the Marne. This was a wonderfully lovely spot, and his house was filled with ancient trophies and curios, among them being a clock made by the famous Bulle for one of the French kings, for which he had refused a sum of $1500. His generously filled wine cellar was raided by the German soldiers who were occupying his house during the battle of the Marne, and to the effect on them of his 200 bottles of champagne he jokingly gives credit for the French victory on that occasion.

Mr. Bondaux's narrowest escape from death in this war was from lightning. In company with a number of his comrades he was peacefully seated in their tent when a bolt struck through, tearing a great hole at their feet.

Mrs. Bondaux has a most interesting copy of a French newspaper, among many other interesting things, which is illustrated with a photograph of American soldiers marching on the streets of Paris on the Fourth of July. Each gun is decorated with a bouquet of flowers placed there by a French girl. The French descriptions of the parade of "our boys" would sound "flowery" in our language, to say the least. They leave no doubt as to the feeling of comradeship and love that the French hold for America today.

"THE HONOR SYSTEM"

There is something in a name, and so it is in the instance of "The Honor System," which is the strongest and most convincing play that has ever been thrown on the screen. This great master drama, directed by R. A. Walsh and presented by William Fox, will be seen at Palace Grand Theatre Wednesday, October 10.

The story from beginning to end is an interesting one. There are scenes depicting the frontier life of Arizona which are without parallel on the screen. Mr. Walsh was born and reared in Arizona and shows it first in his selection of types. He positively uses no Bergen (N. J.) cowboys, and, after all, that's a good start. His men of the West breathe, snort and fight western fashion. And they love that way, too.

The power of the courts for good or bad is depicted in this picture, as is also the prison life in many of the penitentiaries that were maintained under corrupt political rule. The lessons taught from start to finish in this wonderful production should be the cause of creating a desire in the hearts of those who see the play to lead nobler and better lives.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

A child's business education may begin as soon as he becomes intelligent as to what is going on about him. A business education is the qualifying that a person attains of doing things accurately and promptly. Boys and girls may possess the qualifications of accuracy and promptness early in life. Boys who are distributing papers on newspaper routes in Glendale have an excellent opportunity to acquire business accuracy. There is the list of names of the patrons on the route, the correct spelling and the correct house numbers, and then the prompt and careful delivery service, with papers thrown where they should be thrown, and then, following all this, the courteous treatment of patrons. Accuracy and promptness comprise the important part of business education. These qualifications may be acquired on the ranch, in the store or in the school.

This Congress has made a fame for itself that will endure as long as this nation has a history. It has made mistakes. But, in the main, it has displayed remarkable wisdom and courage and exemplary Americanism.

There may be nothing in cornbread and mush to inspire a poet to rhapsodies, but a feast of maize products is enough to make the appetite of a hungry person dance in joyful anticipation and satisfying realization.

The man with his $1,000,000 annual income is worrying and tearing his hair much more over the war tax measure than the man with his modest earnings of $1000 a year.

NEW THOUGHT

Masonic Temple, 532 South Brand boulevard.

Dr. H. N. Pfeiffer, in the Sunday morning service, after reading from the 34th chapter of Ezekiel, said:

"I believe thoroughly in the Christian church, the Christian faith and the Christian Bible. This is the book of books, from it comes perennial fountains of all truth. In it again and again has been found the bread of life for the world's greatest thinkers. In all the bibles of the world are found the essential truths, but the Christian Bible is supreme.

"The name Ezekiel meant strengthened by God. I like that name, for only when one is physically, spiritually and mentally strengthened by God can any man do permanent good.

"Ezekiel was a man with a vision, a vision which came to him while at his post of duty. No man ever reached that joy by jumping over the duty. William Carey, pegging at boots with the map of the world spread out before him, became a pioneer in foreign missionary work; his vision came while at the cobbler's bench. I like this version of Shakespeare's famous words: 'To thine own task be true, and it follows as the night the day thou canst not then be false to any task.' As a prophet should Ezekiel spoke for God as to the past, the present and the future? We want to have a great deal of reverence for the past, but we do not want to worship it. As to the present, Ezekiel exhorted the Israelites to return to God. How many of us are so filled with joy that we make others realize their affinity with God. It isn't necessary to buttonhole every one you meet and ask how he stands before God. Yet that is what we used to do. A story is told of Moody. He accosted a stranger, inquiring, 'My friend, are you a Christian?' The other, in a superior manner, replied, 'My friend, I would have you know I am a professor in a theological seminary.' Moody replied, 'Well, I wouldn't let that stand in my way.'

"Ezekiel pointed his people to the future; encouraged them as every true prophet does. He was no pessimist, but an optimist. A story is told of a professor at college who was a confirmed pessimist and complained at everything. The students tried to catch him one day. It was one of those perfectly glorious days. They said, 'Professor, you can't complain of this day, can you?' He replied, 'No, I suppose not, but this can't last.' He was bound to find some flaw, some evil, in everything. You smile, but you may belong to that professor's family.

"The prophet portrayed Jehovah as a shepherd who would lead and feed them, and heal those who were sick. This actual invisible presence of God in the thick of the fight is a fact. 'In Him we live and move and have our being.' Some one has said when questioned as to what God is, 'As to your God I do not know. My God is my deeper self.' Let us allow this real, divine self to absorb the human and false self.

"Truth is universal and is one. There is one religion but a thousand theologies. Religion is the life of God in the soul of man. In your religious study, concentrate on one spiritual book. Learn to love God and thy fellow man and you will find rest and satisfaction."

Miss Helene Morgan gave a beautiful instrumental selection and also accompanied Mrs. J. J. Freeman in a wonderfully sweet solo, "My Faith in Thee."

INFLUENCE OF BAD EXAMPLES

A committee which has been investigating the government printing offices is said to have discovered a scandalous amount of waste. Paper, ink and metal are used as if the supply were unlimited and the costs no more than the cost of water. There is inefficiency in the use of materials and the employment of labor. The report of the committee is explosive, making it imperative that radical changes be made in the personnel. We wonder if the government bureaus do not suffer from bad example. Take this matter of printing bills. The worst offender is Congress. It not only causes a minute record of its proceedings to be printed—one that no one except printers and proof-readers read entirely—but it is forever ordering the printing of speeches which were never delivered, distribution of speeches and reports and treatises among constituents who throw the stuff into a waste basket. Last summer we ran into a disgruntled railway station master. He had been shipped a half ton of government reading matter for distribution among the railway patrons. The patrons had glanced at the papers and then thrown them out on the right of way. The division superintendent chose the time for an inspection trip and had roundly scolded the station agent for the littered state of the railway property, and no doubt the same sort of thing was going on in innumerable other places in the country, the same waste occurring. Congress had run up an enormous printing bill which bore no results except muss and dirt. With such an example of disregard for public money, how can the bureaus at Washington be expected to practice efficiency and economy.

WHY IS AMERICA AT WAR?

Have you ever read the indictments brought by our fathers in the Declaration of Independence against George III? There were some charges, and most of them were justified, against that stupid German king. But George did very little compared with what the Kaiser's government has done against the American people. To prove it, let the facts be submitted to a candid world:

It has sunk our ships without warning and unlawfully destroyed the lives of our peaceful citizens on the high seas.

It is carrying on against us operations to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy a civilized nation.

It has filled our land with spies and excited domestic insurrections and disorder among us.

It has intrigued with Mexico and Japan to attack us, and has partitioned our territory among them, at a time when we were still assured of its unshaken friendliness.

The German government has poisoned the minds of a once liberty loving people by glorifying "blood and iron."

It has violated sworn treaties as "scraps of paper."

It has waged war with unprecedented barbarity, employing weapons and methods hitherto unknown among civilized nations.

It has ravished, enslaved, plundered and starved the noncombatant population of Belgium, Poland and northern France with an efficiency of heartlessness unknown since Attila the Hun.

It has bombarded defenseless towns from the air, and its pirate submarines have ruthlessly done to death multitudes of unoffending men, women and children.

It is impossible to live in peace with a government like that. Its guilty deeds have created a state of war. We have entered upon this war to curb this mad power. To the successful prosecution of that war we have pledged to one another our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.—James A. Woodburn.

"Your wife is very ingenious." "I should say so. It seems to me she finds a new place to hide my dress shirt studs every time."—Detroit Free Press.

MAYOR'S WEDDING CONFUSES CITIZENS

MOORHAVEN, Fla., Oct. 9.—Since the mayor of this peaceful little community married, the faithful constituents are terribly confused. The matrimonial ventures of a mayor do not, as a rule, create much disturbance in municipal affairs. But in the case of Moorhaven it's different.

Moorhaven's mayor was different from all other mayors. She—that's what caused all the trouble—being a woman, changed her name when she married. She was elected mayor while Mrs. George Horwitz. Then her honor the mayor married Capt. J. J. O'Brien, U. S. A., a former newspaper man and ex-secretary to the mayor of Moorhaven.

The mayor's husband is now on his way to France. But by marrying the mayor of Moorhaven O'Brien set the population to thinking. Here is the question that is worrying the residents of Moorhaven. Mrs. O'Brien was elected mayor of Moorhaven as Mrs. Marion D. Horwitz, the name that appears on her election certificate and the one she has signed to all official documents since becoming mayor. Now, must she sign Mrs. J. J. O'Brien to these documents, or the name that appears on her election certificate?

Regarding her job as mayor Mrs. O'Brien said: "The job of being mayor is a few one to me, and I like it. I have to hand out justice for all petty offenses, for I sit as town magistrate in the town, and that, with managing the councilmen, is a full job in itself."

In addition to her duties as mayor Mrs. O'Brien finds time to run a small farm of 5000 acres, where she raises practically every known vegetable, and, as a side line, hogs. She has worked from 4 o'clock in the morning until 11 at night on her farm steadily through the summer season, and is convinced there isn't a thing a woman can not do.

When she works in the field Mrs. O'Brien, like all other farmerettes, discards the skirt and takes to trousers. She does not look like a woman who had been slaving in the field all day and managing a small town at the same time. She is blonde, pretty and young. "I am more than thirty, however," she said.

Being a mayor, one would think she would be willing to talk about the woman in politics. "That is the last thing I want to talk about," was her surprising answer when the question of woman's suffrage was brought up. "Don't ask me what I believe, for I do not know a thing about woman's suffrage. All my life I have been busy doing the things I wanted to do, and haven't had time to think much about political enfranchisement."

"Not that suffrage is not coming," she added, hurriedly, "but in my mind the best argument for it is the evidence women are now giving in all sorts of war work. The work that women have done in the war relief agencies and the work they do in the juvenile and municipal courts is proof enough for me that any woman is as good and as capable as any man."

Getting off the question of votes for women, Mrs. O'Brien gave a few hints to the modern farmer. "The old-time farmer," she said, "didn't know when to plant or where. He simply dropped the seed into the same ground season after season. Nowadays any one can learn to farm by doing as the Department of Agriculture tells you. I have four large tractors and I work all day as long as my men do. And then, of course, I work at night, too. If the government would make possible the development of other waste lands in this country—as these drainage canals have made them available in Florida—the food problem would shrink in proportion."

Mrs. O'Brien was recently made a member of the Governor of Florida's staff with the rank of major. She is also on the state committee on national defense, and is preparing to organize a home defense organization.

PINES FOR OLD-TIME ORATORY

What has become of the old-fashioned orator, the old boy who made the well known welkin ring? Modern speakers don't satisfy our longing for language. We remember at least three orators of the old school. One of them, at a funeral oration, spoke of youth and age. Said he: "Springtime's bright green must fade and pass away to be replaced by drear December's somber hues."

Another, telling of a visit he had made to the place of his birth and boyhood, told of looking into a spring around which he had played as a child. He said: "When last I looked into its mirrored beauty I beheld the smiling face of a happy boy crowned with a mass of golden hair. Now I behold a broken old man, halting down the western hill of time, and on his brow there is the snow which no summer's sun can ever melt."

The third of our favorite orators said: "I have seen fragrant flowers in the hands of blushing beauty. I have gazed upon the loveliness of dew-kissed violets rivaling with their modesty the majesty of lilies of the valley. I have seen gorgeous roses lending brilliance to sparkling eyes. But, gentlemen, the most beautiful bouquet that ever burst into bloom before my enraptured eyes was—a royal flush."

Elocution may be a good thing, but the fact is, it does not go far enough. It merely teaches one how to speak and not when.

SKIM MILK AS FOOD

In the San Joaquin valley are thousands of farmers who are throwing away all or part of their skim milk from the separators. A certain amount must be fed to calves where butter fat is the product of the dairy and the next best use commonly made of skim milk is feeding it to hogs.

The food value of skim milk, and its possibilities in the human ration, should be thoroughly understood at a time when food prices are mounting skyward. Its most advantageous use should be a matter of common knowledge.

For the ordinary purposes of information, it is sufficiently accurate to say that the solids of milk are 13 per cent of its weight, 8.7 per cent being water. The butter fat is about 4 per cent and 9 per cent is casein, milk sugar and other constituents of food value. This means that after the butter fat is taken out, two-thirds of the solid food remains, and really the most valuable part of the milk. The 9 per cent of solids, after the 4 per cent of fat is removed, is 9.4 per cent of the whole, or, for practical purposes, 10 per cent solid food, of high value. Let us make some comparisons.

Skim milk weighs between nine and ten pounds per gallon, and accordingly a gallon of skim milk contains one pound of solid food. Beef contains nearly 30 per cent of solids of much the same character, so a gallon of skim milk contains more food than three pounds of boneless beefsteak. Compare the cost.

Eggs are 30 per cent solids and weigh about a pound and a half to the dozen. So a gallon of skim milk is equal in food value to two dozen eggs. Compare the cost.

Beans are about 60 per cent fully digestible solids, so it takes almost two pounds of dry beans to equal a gallon of skim milk. Compare the cost again. The fact is that skim milk at 15 cents a gallon is the cheapest food on the market.

A gallon of skim milk is equal in food value to three pounds of fresh pork, yet when fed to hogs a gallon of milk will not make one pound of pork. Hence the economic waste of feeding milk to hogs, when it can be used for human consumption.

Uses of Skim Milk

Skim milk makes a fine hot food drink with the addition of chocolate. Many like a combination of chocolate and coffee. Skim milk is a fine addition to hot cakes, biscuits, corn bread and in most other dishes in which whole milk is commonly used. A little more shortening is needed to produce the same results. Butter fat now sells, in butter, at nearly 75 cents a pound. Cotton seed or olive oil will produce the same results at half the price. Skim milk is a good foundation for "gravies" or sauces, with a meat flavor. A little skim milk with the eggs improves an omelette.

Very nutritious soups may be made of skim milk, using meat and vegetable flavorings and the fat of meats for a "correction of the ration."

Skim milk, with corn starch and suitable flavoring, makes a very acceptable "ice cream." Skim milk, an egg and rice cooked in a double boiler makes a very tasty dish.

Rennet, or "junket tablets" will coagulate skim milk, and from the solid sweet clabber may be made a great variety of dishes as well as a sweet cottage cheese. This cottage cheese, mixed with well cured cheese finely grated, makes a good imitation of the ordinary California cheese. A simple method of making skim milk cheese, which may or may not contain buttermilk, is given by the United States Department of Agriculture:

In the process of manufacture as high as 15 per cent of fresh buttermilk is added to the skim milk. The mixture is set at 98 degrees F., with sufficient rennet to coagulate in 25 minutes. The curd is carefully and evenly cut, stirred a few minutes, dipped into forms having rounded bottoms, kneaded, pressed down and finally covered with a board, upon which a weight is placed. Twelve hours later the cheeses are placed in a brine tank for 24 hours, when they are taken out and covered with salt for a short time. They are then transferred to the ripening room, where the temperature is about 55 F., and turned and wiped with a cloth every day for five weeks. The cheeses are cylindrical in shape and are small and flat.

The ordinary recipes for cheddar cheese making will apply to swim milk cheese.

Skim milk cheese, put through a meat grinder, well salted and mixed with a little salad oil, makes a fine filling for sandwiches.

WORRIED

"I don't know what I'll do if my boy has to go to war."
"I wouldn't worry much if I were you; perhaps he won't be drafted."
"I know, but I just can't bear the thought of him ever having to go."
"That is a fear all mothers have to face. Has your son registered?"
"Dear me, no; not yet. But I'm just worried to death for fear that some day he will be called away from me."
"How old is your boy?"
"Just six months old yesterday and the loveliest boy that ever was born."

LA CRESCENTA

Mr. H. L. Bissell and Mr. A. C. Cobb, who have been at Huntingdon lake, have returned and report good sport and big catches.

Mrs. Joseph Hawkins was visiting in the valley one day this past week.

The Monday afternoon teas at Mrs. S. S. Thomas' continue, and the knitting class is progressing rapidly in efficiency and members.

The Improvement Association met on Friday evening at the schoolhouse and was favored by a talk from Mr. Pearman, of the Pasadena Board of Trade, who has been summoned to Washington, D. C., to take part in a conference. His subject was "The Needs of the Allies."

The La Crescenta Women's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Levy, on New York avenue, Wednesday, October 10, at 2:30. Don't forget your contribution to the basket.

Mrs. B. F. Miller, the librarian, announces that owing to Wednesday, the 10th, being the club meeting, the library will be open Monday, October 8, from 3 to 5 p. m. instead. Everybody please note change of date.

The School Trustees announce that Tuesday, November 13, the program at the picture show will be for the children. Grownups are invited, too. The picture will be "The Two Little Imps," and it is acted by two little children five and seven years of age. So kiddies, be sure to come. Be sure to have the grownups bring you. They will enjoy it and you will all laugh all the way through the whole show.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemper have moved into the new garage on Rosemont.

SUNLAND

The School Improvement club of Sunland met with Mrs. Barnhard Tuesday at two-thirty. Report of the various committees on the year's work was heard. The election of the following officers took place: Mrs. Charley Lewis, president; Mrs. Rowley, vice-president; Mrs. Percy, treasurer; Mrs. Nance, Secretary. It was decided to meet the second Tuesday of each month at three o'clock at the school house. The work planned for the year was the improvement of the drinking water on the school grounds and the subject of providing healthful recreation for the children.

Young people, old people, children, everybody, save up your pennies for a good time at the Halloween social to be given by the Ladies' Aid and the Christian Endeavor October 30, at 7:30 p. m. at Rowleys hall. Remember the date.

Wednesday evening was the yearly business meeting of the Sunland Baptist church. The following officers were elected: Trustees: Mr. Blumfield, Mrs. C. B. Johnson, Dr. Glen Hammond; Clerk, Miss Menita Huse; Treasurer, Mr. Wm. Lancaster; Collector, Mrs. Geo. E. Huse.

Mrs. Smith and daughter and grandchild are the guests of Mr. Wm. Barnhard this week.

Mrs. Wm. Graham took the finished work of the Sunland Red Cross Chapter to headquarters in Los Angeles Thursday.

News from Paul Lancaster, who is in the navy, reports that he will sail Thursday from the United States, supposedly to some port in Asia. One by one the Sunland boys are scattering to different ports.

The county supervisors and others interested in the location of a sanitarium were viewing property in Sunland and vicinity. They went carefully over the Gerlestone ranch across the Big Tujunga. This ranch of 200 acres is owned by Mr. L. T. Rowley. This is an ideal spot for the sanitarium, only the approach across the river is bad. They then went over the Talaminta ranch lying south of Mrs. Morgan's place in Tujunga. The air in Sunland and Monte Vista Valley is being talked of far and wide, as the climate is ideal and we believe that Sunland is the most beautiful place on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Ella Barnhard, secretary of the Fourth of July committee, turned over to the Sunland branch of the Red Cross the tidy sum of $95 which was the net proceeds of the day's collection for the celebration given by the Monte Vista Valley Band under the leadership of R. Walter Maygrove. This money will be used for the purchase of material for the many willing workers for this worthy cause.

The Sunland branch of the Red Cross sent to headquarters Thursday twenty pairs of socks, one sweater, thirteen hospital shirts, two dozen handkerchiefs, one dozen napkins, six dozen tray cloths. This is the result of two months' work. Much credit is due to the chairman of the knitting committee and her helpers. There are only sixteen active members in the branch, and they are doing good work. As most of the members are quite busy these days and a great deal of the work can be done at home there will be only one meeting each week instead of two as heretofore. Regular meetings every Wednesday afternoon and the business meeting on the first Wednesday of each month at 2:30 o'clock at headquarters in the Rowley building.

We are sorry to note that the Rev. Alfred Adams, Sr., who has been ill for so long, is not improving as rapidly as his friends would wish.

Mr. Joseph Spencer had the misfortune of mashing his finger so badly that the bone had to be removed to the second joint, making a very painful hand.

It is reported that Mrs. Hitchcock and children, sister of Mrs. Herron, was badly burned in the fire at Fillmore. We hope the report is untrue.

The Ladies' Aid of the First Baptist church met in the room of the postoffice building Thursday afternoon for the yearly business meeting. After roll call and reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the work of the year was closed up and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. M. A. Huse; vice president, Mrs. Lancaster; treasurer, Mrs. William Blumfield; secretary, Mrs. Ella Barnhard. Light refreshments were served by the vice president, Mrs. Lancaster, and the meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks at the Postoffice building.

In the passing away of Mrs. Hetty M. Hartman at 3018 West First street, Los Angeles, October 1, the people in Sunland have indeed lost a friend. She was beloved by every one who knew her, and the young people especially always found in her a friend in whom to confide. Her sweet, religious example, always doing for the needy, will long be remembered by her neighbors and friends. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved relatives in their great loss. She was buried at the Hollywood cemetery Wednesday, October 3, at 2 p. m. Those attending the funeral from Sunland besides the relatives were Mrs. Fred Frisbee and Miss Menita Huse.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Los Angeles, Cal., on October 27, 1917, as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth class postmaster at Sunland, Cal., and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement. The compensation of the postmaster at this office was $248 for the last fiscal year. Applicants must have reached their twenty-first birthday on the date of the examination, with the exception that in a state where women are declared by statute to be of full age for all purposes at eighteen years women eighteen years of age on the date of the examination will be admitted. Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the post-office for which the examination is announced. The examination is open to all citizens of the United States who can comply with the requirements. Application blanks, Form 1753, and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the postmaster at the place of vacancy or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Applications should be properly executed and filed with the commission at Washington, D. C., at the earliest practicable date.

The Rosebud class of the Tujunga M. E. church extends a hearty welcome to every one to come on Friday evening, October 12, to the home of Mrs. William Allen, of Tujunga Terrace, and enjoy a good time at the small price of 5 cents.

MORE MONEY—LESS BLOODSHED

If any sentimentalist should answer that he does not care to lend his money and "send our boys to death abroad" we may truthfully tell him that every dollar he now gives will mean a drop of American blood saved.

Pacifists and pro-Germans can not stop our American soldiers from going abroad. Our boys will go—and more will go, and still more—until the decisive day. The harder we strike, the sooner that exodus will end.

If we could have ready today equipment representing $50,000,000,000, how many days before Germany would sue for peace? We can not raise fifty billion in a year, but we are doing our best. And every citizen who does his best by lending his utmost may genuinely feel that he is keeping a boy, perhaps ten, perhaps fifty American boys, out of the death-dealing trenches. Hence more money means less bloodshed.

In the daily routine of life you ask of those with whom you come in contact both honesty and fairness of treatment.

More so, than ever, do you need such help during the sorrows of bereavement. Then, as at no other time, you ask and have a right to expect conscientious service—the kind "you" yourself would give were you able to do so.

You ask and expect an impressive service, free of needless expense, yet fitting the occasion.

In using Scovern-Letton-Frey Co. service either in our mortuary, at the church or in your own home, you will find all these requirements met—quietly, restfully and in good taste.

BUREAU OF MEDICAL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The establishment of a bureau of medical service of foreign commissions, to give prompt and expert attention to the requests for medical and surgical supplies received from American Red Cross commissions now at work in France, Russia, Rumania, Italy and Serbia, is announced today by the Red Cross war council. Requests for additional doctors and nurses for service with these commissions, particularly in France and Rumania, will also be handled by the new bureau.

In co-operation with the medical advisory board the bureau will also render assistance in the solving of many new pathological problems constantly arising out of the war.

Dr. R. M. Pearce, of Philadelphia, professor of research medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, is director of the new bureau of medical service. His duties will be in addition to those of general medical adviser to the Red Cross war council. Dr. W. C. Bailey of Boston is associate director of the new bureau, and Dr. Ralph Pemberton of Philadelphia is assistant. The secretary of the bureau, having charge of the details of fulfilling requisitions from the commissions abroad is John Gilbert of Philadelphia.

The growth of the work of all the Red Cross commissions in European countries during the last two months made the establishment of this bureau necessary. Drugs and medical supplies to the value of more than $500,000 have already been shipped to Russia, while three detachments of child specialists have been recruited throughout the country for service with the new children's bureau of the Red Cross in France.

Special assistance is being given by the American Red Cross in the fight against tuberculosis and children's diseases throughout France and Belgium. The bureau is furnishing bacteriologists, chemists, surgeons and others for Red Cross establishments in Paris. More than a dozen base hospitals now serving in France, each with a staff of more than 200 doctors, nurses and attendants have been organized and recruited by the American Red Cross.

THOSE COMMON BOYS

"I shouldn't mind having Jack enlist," said his mother, "if I didn't know he'd be herded right in with those common boys." Then the draft came along and caught Jack. He's out in a big cantonment.

The woman by her utterance admitted her failure as a mother. If Jack at 22 was so weak a thing that his health could be injured, his morals corrupted or his peace of mind upset by association with other boys, some of whom had been less expensively reared than he, his education had been a farce. If his mother had been really of fine metal she would have taught Jack from babyhood to recognize true values when he saw them. He would now be strong, with an attitude so wholesome that there could be no fear of his ability to take care of himself. And she would have thought of his association with the other lads with pleasure that Jack might have the opportunity, the broadening experience of knowing intimately all types of men.

"Those common boys"—what are they? Sons of the workers of the world—whom Lincoln said the Lord must have loved, because he made so many of them? If so, then Jack has much to learn from them. If she meant boys who were vulgar in word or deed—they are always few. The many are clean, decent, admirable. And vulgarly springs from weakness and lack of discipline. Army drill and the big spiritual experience of living near to death will soon burn all that out.

As those common boys—sons and brothers of all of us—go marching by to entrain for their winter's work they look pretty fine, well worthy the nation's pride. Rich, poor, high, low—the khaki is a great leveler. And as for the Jacks of the country—lucky for them the strong right arm of Uncle Sam has removed them from the sickly atmosphere of such homes and put them among the democratic ranks where they may be saved.—Whittier News.

HOW TO RUN A NEWSPAPER

When a man goes astray,
Keep it out.
When a critic roasts a play,
Keep it out.
When two men in anger clash,
When a merchant goes to smash,
When the cashier steals the cash,
Keep it out.
When they quarrel in the church,
Keep it out.
When the teacher wields a birch,
Keep it out.
When nine women fair to see
Whisper something over tea—
Print it? Goodness gracious me!
Keep it out.

When two statesmen make a deal,
Keep it out.
When another tries to steal,
Keep it out.
Stories thin and stories tall,
Good and bad and big and small,
Anything that's news at all—
Hear 'em shout:
"Keep it out."
